Silas' brother Alexander:

Buried Clovesville Cem., large impressive monument, 1843-1902, wife Jane.

Alexander's wife's obit:

Mrs. Alexander Morrison - (1935 - date hand written) Mrs. Jane Morrison, widow of Alexander Morrison, of Fleischmanns died May 23rd at her residence near that village. Mrs. Morrison's maiden name was Jane Lawson and she was born at Brown's Station, June 28th, 1855. On April 1st, 1875 she married Alexander Morrison, a prosperous farmer living near Fleischmanns. Of this union there were two sons, James, now deceased, and William who resides near Fleischmanns. Her husband passed away March 2, 1902. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison were among the first in this vicinity to embark in the business of keeping summer boarders. They built the present Maple Grove house and were successful. When they retired from the summer hotel business, they erected a beautiful residence on Main Street. Here Mrs. Morrison lived until she sold the property. In 1921 she erected a bungalow near the homes of her children on the Halcott road. Mrs. Morrison was a member of the M.E. church in Fleischmanns and took great interest in church work having been one of the stewards of the church for a number of years. At the age of 80 years she was one of the oldest surviving members of the original Griffin Corners congregation that built the Fleischmanns church. She caught a slight cold and was ill only a few days. The funeral services were conducted at the M.E. church by Rev. W. W. Williams. Interment in the family plot at the Clovesville cemetery. She is survived by her son, William of Fleischmanns and a number of grandchildren.
